

QUIZ 1

Name: RAFID MAHMUD HAQUE

ID : 2019-1-60-085

Course: CSE347

Sec : 02

The Functional and non-Functional requirements of a Human Resources management system is given below -

- Functional requirements:
 - System will contain informations of all employee. All employees will have an account.
 - Each employee will have a unique id number by which he can be searched in the system.
 - There will be a project section in the system where the project team and progression information will be found.
 - Leave and absence of employee will be tracked and controlled.
 - Salary and other expenses will be stored and updated by time.
 - Employee leaving and hiring information should be updateable.

- Non-functional requirements:

- Every employee can't use more vacation than assigned.
- Security of the accounts of employees must be there.
- Maximum number of employees must be specified for server management.
- Salary payment method should be calculated carefully.
- Recruitment should be only done when there is shortage in a particular team.